Governor Sebelius to Make Kansas City-Area Industrial Swing

Governor Kathleen Sebelius is spending Wednesday, January 22 visiting Kansas City, Kansas area businesses, looking at plant operations and talking about issues relevant to each industry.

She says, "It's important for me to visit Kansas businesses and spend time with the people who are responsible for their company's participation in our economy, as well as the men and women who are working on the front lines."

Governor Sebelius will begin at 10 a.m., at the Butler Manufacturing Company, 19920 West 161st Street in Olathe. Butler Manufacturing is a leader in the marketing, design, and production of systems and components for nonresidential structures. Products and services are provided within the commercial, community, industrial, and agricultural markets.

At 12 p.m., Governor Sebelius will visit the Fairfax General Motors Plant, 3201 Fairfax Trafficway, Kansas City, KS. Production of the new Chevy Malibu is set to begin at the Fairfax Plant in July. Other new businesses have come to the area because of the Fairfax Plant.

And, at 2pm, Governor Sebelius will visit the Procter and Gamble plant at 1900 Kansas Avenue, Kansas City, KS. Procter and Gamble markets approximately 250 brands to nearly five billion consumers in over 140 countries. The Kansas City plant was built in 1904 and was the first plant built outside of Cincinnati.
